FAMILIES AND THE FIREFIGHTING PROFESSION

WHY WE LAUNCHED IT

"I was so pleased to hear that the FBU are launching their own lottery to support, among other good causes, the families of fallen and injured firefighters. No one could imagine the hell our family went through after my son Stephen Hunt died while on duty in 2013 - people assume that families such as mine are looked after following such a tragedy, but it's not always the case. A special fund to support those unlucky enough to lose a loved one is much needed and very welcome."

Sue Veevers, mother of fallen firefighter Stephen Hunt

In October 2018, our union will celebrate its 100th anniversary. During those years our service has changed a great deal.

The Firefighters 100 Lottery is about improving the support available to injured firefighters and to bereaved families of fallen firefighters.

It's about ensuring that lessons from past tragedies are remembered and applied so that we ensure today's firefighters are better protected.

People often assume if a firefighter is killed or seriously injured on the job that they and their families will be taken care of automatically. There are however significant gaps in the support and financial assistance available to families. It is heart-breaking to see the families of fallen firefighters consumed by money troubles when they should be left in peace to mourn and rebuild their lives.

This is just one of the reasons why the FBU has set up the Firefighters 100 Lottery. At least 50p from every ticket sold goes to support firefighters, bereaved families, and the firefighting profession.

In addition to the three guaranteed cash prizes every week, FBU members who buy tickets will be entered into a quarterly draw for a chance to win a range of prizes.

So, if like me, you support the aims and values of our lottery then get your tickets now, but also please help us spread the word with your family, friends and colleagues.

You can buy your tickets direct from the lottery website:

BY PLAYING THE LOTTERY YOU WILL BE HELPING TO:

- ✓ Support the families of firefighters killed or seriously injured in the line of duty
- ✓ Honour the bravery and sacrifice of those firefighters killed in the line of duty
- ✓ Promote the lessons to be learnt from firefighter deaths and serious injuries
- ✓ Support research into the physical and mental health and well-being of firefighters and the "all hazards" nature of the modern fire and rescue service
- ✓ Support humanitarian assistance for those affected by fire or disaster

1st prize: 20% of all lottery proceeds brought in each week*
2nd prize: 6% of all lottery proceeds brought in each week
3rd prize: 3% of all lottery proceeds brought in each week

The lottery is a Fire Brigades Union initiative but is open to everyone over the age of 16. The FBU has secured gambling commission approval and has been issued a license to run the Firefighters 100 Lottery in a fair and open way. The sale of tickets, the weekly draws and the paying-out of prizes will all be undertaken independently of the FBU by an external lottery management company.
